

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and difficult to decipher but appears to contain several lines of cursive script.

Handwritten text on page 25, written in cursive. The text is arranged in several lines and includes a large, dark rectangular redaction mark in the lower right quadrant. The text is partially obscured by the redaction and some staining on the left side of the page.