

that in England the number of universities has been increasing for several centuries. The number of students of divinity is also increasing, and the number of students of letters is also increasing. The number of students of law is also
 increasing. The number of students of medicine is also
 increasing. The number of students of agriculture is also
 increasing. The number of students of commerce is also
 increasing. The number of students of the liberal arts is
 increasing. The number of students of the sciences is increasing. The number of students of the fine arts is increasing. The number of students of the mechanical arts is increasing. The number of students of the domestic arts is increasing. The number of students of the military arts is increasing. The number of students of the naval arts is increasing. The number of students of the ecclesiastical arts is increasing. The number of students of the secular arts is increasing. The number of students of the liberal professions is increasing. The number of students of the liberal professions is increasing.

The number of students of the liberal professions is
 increasing. The number of students of the liberal professions is increasing. The number of students of the liberal professions is increasing.

of the liberal professions is increasing.
of the liberal professions

The number of students of
 the liberal professions is
 increasing. The number of students of the liberal professions is increasing.